PETITIONING THE COURT

To modify the conditions of supervision as follows:

- 32 You shall reside in a residential reentry center (RRC) for a period of up to 180 days. Your participation in the programs offered by the RRC are limited to employment, education, treatment, and religious services at the direction of your supervising officer. You shall abide by the rules and requirements of the facility.

CAUSE

On March 31, 2012, this officer was notified that the offender absconded from the residential reentry center (RRC), in Spokane, Washington. The offender advised RRC staff that other residents found his "paperwork," reflecting that he is a sex offender. As a result, Mr. Huffman stated he felt his safety was at risk. However, when staff requested that Mr. Huffman provide the names of residents he felt threatened by, he would not produce those names.

On April 2, 2012, the offender reported to the probation office. He stated he had spent the weekend at the Down Towner Motel in Spokane. During the in-office contact, this officer contacted Sean Huffman's employer, Action Recycling. The supervisor at Action Recycling stated they would not allow the offender to return to their business. The supervisor indicated that Sean Huffman did not call their facility until late on Saturday, March 31, 2012, therefore, the employer filled Mr. Huffman's position with another employee.

On April 2, 2012, Mr. Huffman informed this officer and the director of the RRC in Spokane that he would return to their facility. The director of the RRC indicated that per the Bureau of Prisons' (BOP) staff, this officer would need to submit another modification.
